

TRADICION H GRAN RESERVA

DOCa La Rioja

WINERY

In 1893 the Hidalgo family received an excellency award on the International Wine Exhibition of America (Chicago) for their dedication and contribution to the wine world. Inspired by such prestigious recognition the Hidalgo Family selected the best vines in Rioja to create an outstanding wine that is powerful, delicate and memorable for years to come as the family legacy.

Vineyards: Around 70 years old bush vines

Alcoholic & Malolactic Fermentation temperature controlled stainless steel vessel.

Oak Aging: 36 month in 70% American Oak, 30% French Oak.

Second & third use.

Origin of grapes: San Asencio, Rioja Alta one of the northern town of Rioja Alta, important Atlantic influence.

Type of Soil: Calcareous – Clay

Name:	Tradicion H Gran Reserva
Class:	Red
Region:	DOCa La Rioja
Vintage:	2012
Rating:	93 WE
Grape Varieties:	90% Tempranillo, 5% Graciano, 5% Garnacha
Case / Bottle Size:	12/750ml
Alcohol Volume:	14%

TASTING NOTE

Heady aromas of malted milk ball, ripe berry fruits and tobacco are warm and welcoming. Hailing from a warm year, this feels full but playful, with tannins that are only mildly scratchy. Flavors of vanilla, tobacco, butter, herb and dried berry fruit are textbook for Rioja gran reserva, while this takes a while to fully unfold on the finish. Drink through 2035.

