

IPPOLITO VINI

D.O.C. Salaparuta

WINERY

In the area of Western Sicily is the most contingent cultivation of grapes. Small countries, with occasionally a country house in the hills covered with vineyards are the most interesting attractions. Salaparuta is one of these countries, located in a hilly area at an altitude of 385 m above sea level. And 'an agricultural center in which they are produced olives, lemons, and other fruit trees, but the most cultivated product is the screw. Recently, moreover, the Salaparuta area has gained recognition D.O.C. The Ippolito family for 4 generations cultivated vineyards and each generation has introduced a new passion and different methods of cultivation of the vine and wine production. The family has a sacred respect for the earth and for the fruits which in grants. The vineyard of Ippolito family covers more than 10 hectares of land and is located in the hills of Salaparuta and Poggioreale. The soil is rich and is blessed with a sunny climate, with little rain. The resistant screws so dear to the many diseases to which they are subject. This combination makes the excellent grape production given also the ideal environmental conditions.

Name:	Ippolito Vini
Class:	Red
Region:	D.O.C. Salaparuta
Vintage:	2015
Grape Varieties:	Nero D'Avola
Case / Bottle Size:	12/750ml
Alcohol Volume:	13.5%

TASTING NOTE

Ruby red, with aroma of red fruit, particular plum. Full body, persistent and velvety.

